What We Are Learning!

What a beautiful week we had! The Fall weather has been wonderful. Now that the mornings are cooler, please send a jacket with your little one. We will go outside every day the weather permits. It is also time to switch out your child's extra clothes for some warmer ones.

We have been busy this week assessing the preschoolers for progress reports and conferences. For center time we have been working on many different types of math materials. We also painted with Legos and bundles of Q-tips to make some pretty art to hang in our hallway. In Religion we talked about how Jesus teaches us we are all God's children.

Next week we will practice the Letter I.

Notes:

Our Halloween Celebration will be on Tuesday, October 31st. Your little one is invited to dress in costume. (No masks, make up, weapons, or super scary costumes please.) The best choice would be something comfortable that they could wear all day, or something they can slip on over comfortable clothes. Please send in extra clothes if you would like them to change for lunch, recess, and naptime. We will begin our Celebration around 9 am. with snacks and fun activities. You are welcome to join us if you are up to date with the child protection classes. We will need unfrosted sugar cookies, a can of vanilla frosting, and juice or milk. Your child may send in treat bags to pass out to the class if you wish. We have 14 preschoolers. Please let us know if you can help with the above items or would like to join us.
